TCF Australia launches Green Fashion 'Ask An Expert Forums'

As part of the TCF Australia 'ONLINE' Energy Efficiency Training & Mentoring Project, TCF Green Fashion 'Ask An Expert' forums are about to be launched nationally including

- Brisbane, South West Chamber of Commerce, Yeronga, August 30, 7am-8.45am

The forums will enable attendees to develop energy efficiency supply chains, gain insights into TCF environmental issues, and learn about research trends in sustainable fashion, textiles, apparels and homewares. Guest Speakers include:

Sustainable Business is Good Business – Steve Kondra, Green Biz Check specialist in Retail and Office Environment Accreditation

Ethical Fashion and the Triple Bottom Line - Irene Goonan, Green Fashion Mentor

Fashioning Sustainability - Carol Hanlon, TCF Australia

Global 'ECO' Opportunities – Network Links for Energy Efficiency Supply Chains

The TCF Australia 'ONLINE' Energy Efficiency Training & Mentoring Project has come about as a result of the Gillard Government's Clean Energy Future package which helps businesses save money on their operating costs while also lowering Australia's greenhouse gas emissions. The project will provide for 1,000 fashion, creative and TCF small businesses across Australia to participate in ONLINE training. The program will support and facilitate the ability for businesses to reduce energy use, create cost efficiencies and to enable them to investigate new green business opportunities. Free training webinars will be offered covering a wide range of topics such as energy efficiency, sustainable green fashion, supply chain information and support.

TCF Australia was one of 28 business advisory organisations that received Australian Government funding to assist small and medium businesses and community groups save on energy costs recently.

The Green Fashion 'Ask An Expert Forums' will assist fashion industry participants to discover strategic market opportunities in green fashion and tap into new global 'eco' networks. Mentor Vouchers are available to improve small business energy efficiencies and there are also opportunities to showcase fashion labels at global fashion 'ECO' events and online through My Green Incubator.
